The Faculty of Law of the University of Brussels (Université Libre de Bruxelles) is launching a new LL.M. in International Business Law starting in September 2016. It is a full-time advanced graduate program taught entirely in English. The philosophy of this new LL.M. based in Brussels is to offer a rigorous, coherent and comprehensive program that covers all the core subjects of international business law, with a strong emphasis on practical experience. The details of the program can be found on www.BrusselsLlm.com.

We are currently looking to fill vacancies for adjunct lecturers in various subjects and for an academic coordinator. Candidates must preferably hold a Ph.D. degree in Law. For the lecturer positions, candidates must testify through their professional experience and publications outstanding teaching abilities and specific competence in one of the following fields:

International Commercial Transactions
International Regulatory and Tax Law
International Trade and Investment Dispute Settlement
International Intellectual Property and Electronic Commerce

For each course, we are looking for one or two part-time Adjunct Lecturers to deliver 18 or 36 hours of teaching and the supervision of LL.M. thesis. The position of Academic Coordinator involves about 500 hours of work in the course of the academic year. The positions do not involve a contract of employment with the University; the academic work is carried out on an independent basis under terms to be agreed.

Candidates for the position of academic coordinator must demonstrate experience with the following functions: Assistance in the student selection process, supervision of the student registration process, academic support of the students throughout the year, coordination of off-campus activities, social media coordination, assistance with the supervision of LL.M. thesis, assistance with on-site academic activities from registration until graduation.

Interested candidates should send a cover letter and academic curriculum vitae by 15 January 2016 to the following email address: Valerie.Thomas@ulb.ac.be
