Call for Application
Adjunct Lecturer in “International Regulatory Law”
LL.M. in International Business Law
University of Brussels (Université Libre de Bruxelles – ULB)

Appointment Description

Since 2016, the Faculty of Law of the University of Brussels (Université Libre de Bruxelles - ULB) has been offering a new LL.M. program in International Business Law. The LL.M. is a full-time advanced graduate program based in Brussels and taught entirely in English. It caters to motivated students from around the world (current students hail from Africa, Asia, Europe and Central and South America). The philosophy of the LL.M. is to offer a rigorous, coherent and comprehensive program that covers all of the core subjects of international business law, with a strong emphasis on practical experience. The details of the program can be found on www.brusselsllm.com.

We are currently looking to fill a vacancy for an Adjunct Lecturer for the course "International Regulatory and Tax" to teach the part of the course focused on Regulatory Law. (The part of the course focused on Tax is covered by another Lecturer.) The course is designed to provide a broad overview of key multijurisdictional regulatory issues such as anti-bribery and corruption, money laundering, labour (child labour), health and environment, compliance programs, etc. (data protection is covered in a separate course). Candidates will preferably hold a Ph.D. in law and demonstrate outstanding teaching ability and specific competence in the relevant fields through professional experience and publications.

The position involves the teaching of 18 hours (six classes of three hours) and supervision of LL.M. theses due in May. Lectures will commence in the second part of the first term of academic year 2018-19, approximately mid-November, and run for six weeks through late December, meeting once per week from 15-18h at the ULB. Thesis supervision is ongoing but requires more attention in the second term. The position does not involve a contract of employment with the University, rather academic work is carried out on an independent basis under terms to be agreed.

Interested candidates should send a cover letter and academic curriculum vitae by 4 June 2018 to the LL.M. Academic Coordinator at the following email address: pmeisel@ulb.ac.be.
