

Interfaculty and independent list of the academic staff 2018-2020 program

The principles:

- Independence and academic freedom
- Defending the principles of our institution and ensuring that these principles are adequately defended
- Respect for gender equality at each level of the university
- Pluralism and respect for the different disciplines and research environments
- Vigilance on ethical questions, specifically those linked to contracts and partnerships with our university. Ensuring that democratic values are respected at the ULB
- Solidarity with the international academic community

Permanent issues:

- Correct and efficient handling of the infrastructures and the land heritage of the ULB
- Supporting the diversity of indicators for education and research evaluation
- Defending language diversity in education and research
- Good and efficient mobility towards and between the campuses of our university
- Strengthening the balance between the three missions of academics. Reducing administrative burdens and opposing to new regulations that would impeach academic freedom or deny democracy

Some major cases that deserve our full attention:

- Creation of an ambitious strategic plan, open to the university community
- Fighting against any form of harassment
- Improving the possibility for academics to take sabbatical leaves at regular time intervals
- Getting the financial means to properly organise doctoral defences and obtaining good logistic help for the organisation of scientific meetings
- Improving the integration of our architect and translator-interpreter colleagues
- Follow-up on the new ruling of the Erasmus hospital, the maintenance of its academic specificity when integrating the Erasmus hospital in the Brussels hospital network and the possibility to carry out biomedical research in the Erasmus hospital in the best conditions
- Good working conditions, especially at the current (La Plaine and Erasmus) and future (Solbosch) construction sites
- Follow-up on past rulings, specifically the revised career evaluation, the revised governance and administrative simplification
