

UNIVERSITÉ LIBRE DE BRUXELLES

Free inquiry

The L in ULB stands for 'libre', or 'free'. What does this mean for us? It refers to an attitude of free inquiry, as adopted by a free man, who bows down to no dogma and no totalitarian idea of any sort. It signifies our moral commitment to always keep our freedom of conscience. This means that through their teachings, our University's professors will develop your critical thinking skills and train you to engage in free inquiry.

'The Université libre de Bruxelles bases its teachings and research on the principle of free inquiry. This means that in all matters, independent judgement prevails over arguments of authority.'

(Article 1 of the ULB statutes)

Ever since its creation, our University has been feeding the flame of freedom; it has constantly demonstrated its independence and its commitment to the great struggles for democracy, individual liberties and human rights.

What you will need to do on arrival:

1. Check the information on your student card
2. Activate your personal Net ID
3. Log in to the MonULB portal
4. Check your class timetable on GeHol
5. Visit the Virtual University

ULB

First things first

Check the information on your student card

After paying your tuition fees, you have received your student card. It is essential that you check all the information on the card. Any incorrect information may result in inconveniences or bigger problems later on (you may be refused entry to the library, barred from sitting exams, or have your diploma revoked). So please check your surname, first name, and the code representing your year of study. In addition, other documents are available on your MonULB portal.

Should you spot an error, please contact the Registration Department as soon as possible to have it corrected.

Activate your personal Net ID

All students who are (pre)enrolled at ULB are assigned a University e-mail address, and are granted access to a number of tools described below. It is imperative that you activate this Net ID, in order to have access to the University's official communications channels that are the MonULB portal, the Virtual University, and your ULB e-mail account.

All ULB students may use the computers located in the computer rooms and the libraries. In order to activate your Net ID (your personal user account), go to <https://idsapp.ulb.ac.be/pam/pamsignup.php?language=fr>

Log in to the MonULB portal

The MonULB portal is one of ULB's official channels through which it communicates and provides information to students. It lets you access, at any time, all the services and resources made available by the Université libre de Bruxelles. MonULB will also provide you with all relevant information (list of courses, electronic bulletin board, class timetable, e-mail account, Virtual University, virtual secretariat, access to computer equipment, etc.). You can even customise your portal, by adding pages related to services of particular interest (libraries, athletic activities, etc.).

Find out about all the features offered by MonULB by going to www.monulb.be. Please note that the username and password used to access the portal are the same you use to access your ULB e-mail account. You must therefore have an active e-mail address in order to log in to MonULB.

The MonULB mobile app

ULB has developed its own mobile app for its students! You can download it for free on the App Store, Google Play and the Windows Store. With the app, you can check your class timetable, receive faculty announcements, or get your exam marks as soon as they are available, directly on your smartphone or tablet.

Check your class timetable on GeHol

Log in to the MonULB portal: GeHol is where you can find all your class and exam timetables. In the 'ACCUEIL' ('home') tab, you will find the timetable for your year of study (and more specifically for your 'series' if you have signed up for lab work) or for a specific course. You can also check your timetable directly on the following webpage: <http://gehol.ulb.ac.be/gehol/>

PLEASE NOTE: schedules and classrooms may be changed at the last minute. You are therefore advised to log in to the portal very regularly.

Access the Virtual University

The Virtual University (<http://uv.ulb.ac.be/>) is ULB's official virtual campus. Here you can find all information and documents related to your courses (class notes, assignments, online tests, tutorials, podcasts, MOOCs, etc.). You can log in by simply using your Net ID (your user ID for ULB's online resources). Once you are logged in, you will automatically have access to your course list.

Please note that contents hosted on the Virtual University are protected by copyright. Do not distribute them online (e.g. on social networks) without authorisation, especially since certain social networks (such as Facebook) claim copyright on all data published by their users!

Check your course details

The course descriptions ('fiches de cours') are provided based on the decree of 7 November 2013, which requires that each course in a given study programme be described as comprehensively as possible, with information on the course title, on how students will be evaluated, etc., in order to improve transparency for students as they plan their studies. This information is also very helpful for exchange students, who fill in a learning agreement before they leave their country, and who therefore need this information as early as possible.

Note: You are also strongly encouraged to attend:

- the special student orientation day (JANE), held on Thursday, September 14, on the Solbosch campus and on Monday, September 18 on the Erasmus campus (orientation day for the ULB health cluster). You will receive plenty of practical information that will make your new life as a student much easier! For more information, please visit: www.ulb.be/jane
- the first day of class, on Monday, September 18.

How can you help us improve the quality of our services?

New ULB students: we want to hear your opinion!

you log in to the MonULB portal, you will immediately see this logo and an invitation to complete a survey ('enquête pour nouveaux inscrits').

We hope you will help us in our endeavour by immediately filling in the survey, which you will find at www.monulb.be. This will take less than 15 minutes.

If you have any concerns or questions, please contact the InfOR-études service at +32 2 650 36 36, or at enquete\_nouveaux\_inscrits@ulb.ac.be.

Course evaluations

ULB requires its students to evaluate the courses in which they are enrolled. This evaluation begins as soon as classes are over. It consists in two online survey campaigns, held after the January and June exams. You will be given an anonymous questionnaire for each course that you attended. All questionnaires are examined and the results are sent to the teaching staff as well as to the Faculty's education committee.

Students and professors are required to take part in these evaluations, whose primary purpose is to improve the quality of teaching.

What do you need to know? Your rights and obligations

General Study Regulations and disciplinary regulations

Please note that you have agreed to read the General Study Regulations. They can be found at the following address:

www.ulb.ac.be/ulb/greffe/documents/etudiants.html

How does ULB deal with disciplinary issues, fraud, or plagiarism? The University's disciplinary regulations are quite explicit as to the severe sanctions that can be applied. They can be found at the following address:

www.ulb.be/ulb/greffe/documents/docs/REGLEMENT-DISCIPLINE-ETUDIANTS.pdf

Some faculties may apply their own specific regulatory provisions. Please read the regulation on examinations and exam boards at the following address: www.ulb.ac.be/ulb/greffe/documents/reglements-examens-jurys.html

Note: Regarding plagiarism, a tutorial aimed at raising awareness was developed by ULB's archive and library service; you may access it at www.bib.ulb.ac.be/fr/aide/eviter-le-plagiat/index.html

In addition, all students must comply with the safety provisions relevant to the learning activities in which they take part. During internships, exchange programmes and all activities hosted outside the ULB campus, students must comply with all regulatory provisions defined by the partner involved.

Paying tuition fees

Tuition fees must be paid as soon as possible after enrolment has been approved. The proof of enrolment will be issued and sent by mail only once payment has been received by the Registration Department.

Deadlines:

-10% must be paid by the end of October, 2017 (ULB must have received payment on October 31 at the latest in order to deliver the proof of enrolment and student card), failing which the student's enrolment will be cancelled;

-the remainder must be paid by January 4, 2018, failing which the student will be barred from exams and classes until the end of the academic year; in addition, this will count as a failed year and the tuition fees will still be owed.

Specific rules for scholarship students are presented in the section dedicated to student social services.

January examination session

First time university students must sit all the examinations concluding the 1st term, as a condition to their admission to the other examinations during the academic year.

Information documents, forms, and certificates

All the University's official documents (Board of Governors, general regulations, academic calendars, election information, etc.) can be found on the following page: www.ulb.be/ulb/greffe/documents/index.html.

Other official documents (including programme reduction forms and certificates) are presented in the sections below.

Programme reduction procedures

Students may decide, under specific circumstances and in consultation with the academic authorities, to request a programme reduction; this must be done before October 31.

The content of the reduced programme is jointly defined by the academic authorities and the student, after careful consideration of their individual situation.

www.ulb.be/enseignements/inscriptions/allegement.html

This decision must be made upon enrolment, at the beginning of the academic year, and students who choose a reduced programme sign an agreement with the academic authorities by October 31. The terms of this agreement can be found in the relevant form, available from the Registration Department at the following address:

www.ulb.be/enseignements/inscriptions/allegement.html

In any case, at the end of the academic year, students are still required to enrol to the second half of the programme.

Special case of students enrolled in the 1st year of the bachelor programme.

By way of derogation from the general rule, students enrolled in the 1st year of the bachelor programme can also ask for a reduced programme and/or a transfer to another programme, following the 1st-term exams and by February 15.

Additional provisions apply to students registered in the Faculty of Medicine (see also the Faculty provisions)

Individual courses

Students may, without being regularly enrolled, be admitted to attend individual courses. This gives them an auditor status, which does not entitle them to official social security or tax certificates, nor to a visa. The number of credits for auditors is limited to a maximum of 15 each year. Permission to attend courses as an auditor must be granted, for each course, by the professor in charge and the Faculty authorities.

Additional individual courses

ULB students may attend 15 credits' worth of individual courses on top of their regular programme, subject to the agreement of the professors in charge of the courses and to the payment of the related tuition fees. These courses will not be a part of their regular course of study, and they will not be included in their annual programme.

In order to apply for enrolment, students must fill in the relevant enrolment form, available at the following address:
www.ulb.be/enseignements/inscriptions/cours-isoles.html

Certificates for earned credits, passed exams and university enrolment

Students who wish to obtain a certificate will find all the necessary information on the Registration department's website, at <http://www.ulb.be/enseignements/inscriptions/attestation.html>.

Exam board decision and announcement of the results

The academic authorities appoint an exam board for each course of study. This committee is in charge of suggesting and approving each student's study programme for each year of their course of study, as well as of confirming earned credits, declare the successful completion of a study programme, and awarding the academic degree corresponding to the course of study. The exam board makes a decision based on the results of the evaluations that test the student's knowledge in each course unit they attended during the academic year. The Panel deliberates independently and its decisions are collective and motivated. The exam board's decisions are made public during the official announcement of the results, and are then displayed for the fifteen days following the announcement. After the results are announced, students will be given a copy of their transcript upon request.

Regulations relating to the examinations and the exam board are available on the ULB registry's website: www.ulb.ac.be/ulb/greffe/documents/reglements-examens-jurys.html

ULB organisation

ULB organisation and management

Article 1 of the ULB statutes provides that the Université libre de Bruxelles bases its teaching and research activities on the principle of free inquiry. This means that in all matters, independent judgement prevails over arguments of authority.

Article 2 stipulates that the University's organisation is founded on internal democracy, independence, self-sufficiency, and solidarity. Internal democracy means that the exercise of fundamental freedoms is guaranteed within the University, and that the bodies that make up the university community have a say in the University's management and monitor said management.

In accordance with these two articles, the University's management is based on the principle of active participation of each of its components. The University's most prominent central bodies are the Board of Governors and the Academic Council. Academic power is devolved to Faculties and independent teaching and research centres, which themselves have a Faculty council, a School council or an Institute council. Each of these bodies has its own advisory boards. Student delegates are involved in the University's decision-making at all levels.

A plenary assembly with 46 full members meets at least once a year; among other things, it approves the University's annual accounts and activity report.

The Board of Governors and its chair

With Pierre Gurdjian as its chairman since January 1, 2016, the Board of Governors is in charge of the University's general management, its finances, its assets and its infrastructures. It drafts the budget and the annual accounts, and determines the structure of its personnel and services. Four of the Board of Governor's twenty members are students, three are representatives of Belgium's social, political, economic and cultural life who have demonstrated their attachment to ULB. The Rector also sits on the Board.

The members of the Board of Governors elect a chair, who may not be chosen among members of the university community employed by ULB at more than 33 per cent. The chair is elected for a four-year term, which can be renewed once for four more years.

The Board of Governors has appointed several standing advisory committees, such as the Student Social Affairs Committee (CASE), the Cultural Committee (COCU), the IT Council, the Hospital committee and other bodies. Each of these carries out preparatory tasks such as drawing up reports suggesting decisions.

The Board of Governors appoints the director-general, who oversees the University's administration, whether at Faculty, School, Institute, or General Department level.

The Academic Council and the rector

With Rector Yvon Englert at its head, the Academic Council defines and implements the University's academic and scientific policy: teaching, research, international relations, continuing education, etc. It also appoints the members of the academic and scientific staff. It has twenty-six members, six of whom are students.

The Academic Council has also appointed several standing advisory committees, such as the Board of Studies, the Research Council and the International Relations Council. It also has a Documentary Information Council and other bodies. All of these prepare reports in their areas of competence.

The rector is elected by the academic staff for a four-year term, which can be renewed once for four more years. The last election was held in May, 2016. The new rector, Yvon Englert, came into office in September, 2016 (succeeding Didier Viviers), having previously worked in one of the University's institutions dedicated to hard sciences: the Faculty of Medicine.

The rector is also the disciplinary authority for the academic staff, scientific staff, and students.

The Faculty Councils and the deans

ULB has twelve Faculties and institutions: the Faculty of Philosophy and Social Sciences, the Faculty of Philology, Translation, and Communication, the Faculty of Law and Criminology, the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management, the Faculty of Psychology and Education, the Faculty of Architecture, the Faculty of Sciences, the Brussels School of Engineering, the Faculty of Medicine, the Faculty of Pharmacy, the Faculty of Motor Sciences, and the School of Public Health.

Within the limits defined by the Board of Governors and the Academic Council, these institutions are managed by a Faculty council, a School council or an Institute council, headed by a dean or a chair. These councils have the same structure as the Board of Governors and the Academic Council, with representatives from all categories of staff, including students. Just like the Board of Governors, the councils have their own advisory Faculty committees.

For the sake of comprehensiveness, we will also mention the Interfaculty School of Bioengineers (affiliated to both the Faculty of Science and the Brussels School of Engineering), as well as the Institute for European Studies.

Student participation and elections

Since 1968, in the spirit of true democracy, students take part in the University's decision-making structures. Through the Student Council, they appoint members that will sit on the Board of Governors and the Academic Council, and, therefore, on the advisory committees. They also elect representatives who sit on the Faculty councils, School councils or Institute councils.

By having a say in their institution's management, Students are in an ideal position to understand that freedom necessarily implies responsibility. Candidates are expected to run at each level of power, and elections are valid only if certain participation threshold is achieved.

Your vote is essential for each FEF and Unécof election

Students are also represented at the level of the French Community of Belgium (which is in charge of academic regulations), through associations that gather various local organisations. Two such associations are currently officially recognised: the Federation of Francophone Students (FEF) and the Union of Students in the French Community of Belgium (Unécof).

FEF: www.fef.be

Unécof: www.unecof.be

ULB programme structure

'Landscape' decree in the French Community of Belgium: what you need to know

In November, 2013, the French Community of Belgium adopted a decree, commonly known as 'Décret Paysage' ('Landscape' decree), which redefines the landscape of higher education in the French Community of Belgium. In addition to changes in the structure of higher education institutions (e.g. creation of the Academy for Research and Higher Education, or ARES, in charge of coordinating higher education in the French Community of Belgium; creation of five 'geographic hubs', etc.), the 'Landscape' decree defines a new structure for study programmes, which are no longer based on years of study but rather on a course credit system.

The 'Landscape' decree continues a process that began over 10 years ago, with the 'Bologna' decree, which reformed higher education in Belgium in order to harmonise academic systems at the EU level and thus to promote student and graduate mobility across Europe.

The 'Landscape' decree does not alter the general structure of study programmes, which are still divided into three tiers – bachelor, master and PhD –, nor the students' workload, which is still measured in credits – one credit being 30 weeks of learning activities such as preparing for lectures, carrying out lab work, completing assignments in the library or working on individual projects.

In brief

One year of studies for a full-time student is 60 credits (i.e. 1,800 hours of work on average). Initial training programmes are divided into two tiers:

- the first tier, consisting in 180 credits, leads to a bachelor's degree. This basic education offers a general approach to the discipline, and lets you develop the abilities involved in academic training: self-reliance, critical thinking, creativity, etc. This programme is not geared towards a professional activity.
- the second tier consists in 120 credits and leads to a master's degree (except in the fields of medicine and veterinary medicine, where the second level consists in 180 credits, and in other areas where 60-credit masters are offered).

During the master's programme, you will expand the knowledge you acquired during the bachelor programme, and pick a specialisation. The master's programme may involve a specific focus: teaching focus, if you plan to work in education; research focus, if you want to work in scientific research; and professional focus, if you intend to work in the private sector.

This programme involves writing a master's thesis, which is personal final project worth 15 to 30 credits. A bachelor's degree grants you direct access to the corresponding master's programme, but you may also enrol in other programmes at the end of your bachelor's. A wide range of new programmes will be available to you.

How does it work?

The academic authorities define a curriculum for each bachelor's and master's programme. This includes required courses and, possibly, optional courses of your choice. Each course (also referred to as a Course Unit or CU) is worth a certain number of credits, which represent the student's workload.

At ULB, all CUs are worth either 5 or a multiple of 5 credits, except for courses organised by non-University partners. For every course you pass, you will be awarded the appropriate number of credits. When you have accumulated enough credits (180 for the bachelor programme, 120 for the master's programme), the exam board will meet and award you the corresponding degree.

With this credit system, the courses you take in a given year will consist in the CUs that you have not passed and must take again, and the CUs that are available to you based on what you have already learned (the progressive nature of learning means that certain CUs must be completed before the next one may be taken). Generally speaking, your programme for a given academic year consists in a list of CU worth a total of 60 credits; this number may be lower if you are in your final year, or if you were granted a programme reduction by your exam board.

Please note that when you enrol for the first time in a bachelor programme, your first year's course load must consist in the 60 first credits of the bachelor programme, unless you are granted a programme reduction. Only when you have passed at least 45 credits of the first year's programme will you be able to take second-year courses.

What's next?

Once you have completed your studies and hold a master's degree, you may seek further qualifications by enrolling in an advanced master's programme (at least 60 credits minimum, open only to students who have previously earned a 120-credit master's degree).

Students who so wish may complete their education with doctoral studies.

BACHELOR	The first step in a student's academic career, this 180-credit programme leads to a bachelor's degree (BA)
MASTER	Intended to prepare students for the professional world, this 120-credit programme (180 in medicine or veterinary medicine) leads to a master's degree (MA).
Advanced MASTER	This specialised master-level includes 60 credits or more, and completes a previous master programme

A - Your everyday life on campus

Settling in and enrolling

Even after you've enrolled, the Registration Department remains a valuable resource, which you can call upon to obtain a certificate, replace a lost student card, change or quit your study programme, or be evaluated by an academic board from the French Community of Belgium.

Service des inscriptions (Registration Department)

Solbosch campus – Building S, 4th floor – Avenue Buyl, 87A – 1050 Brussels (enter through the reception and registration lobby) – Tel: +32 2 650 20 00 – E-mail: inscriptions@ulb.ac.be – www.ulb.be/inscriptions

Getting to the campuses

ULB is spread over a number of locations and campuses in Brussels and Wallonia. Below you will find a presentation of each of these, as well as maps and public transport information:

Lecture halls

ULB's lecture halls are identified as follows:

Campus name – Building name – Building entrance – Floor – Room number

For instance, S.UD2.120: Solbosch campus, building U, door D, floor 2, door 120. Certain lecture halls are named after important figures; this name will be displayed between brackets, under the room number.

Solbosch Campus:

www.ulb.be/campus/solbosch/plan.html

The Solbosch campus is ULB's main campus. This is where the University's administration and general services are located. Most Faculties in the field of human sciences are located on the Solbosch campus, as is the Brussels School of Engineering, the human sciences library, and some of ULB's museums: the museum of zoology, the Allende exhibition hall, the museum of mineralogy, and the Michel de Ghelderode museum.

La Plaine campus:

www.ulb.be/campus/plaine/plan.html

The La Plaine campus is located about a kilometre away from the Solbosch campus. It houses the Faculty of Sciences and the Faculty of Pharmacy, the museum of medicinal plants and pharmacy, and the physics and chemistry 'experimentariums' where pupils from primary and secondary schools can see these disciplines in actions.

Erasmus Campus:

www.ulb.be/campus/erasme/plan.html

The Erasmus campus is where the Erasmus Hospital is located, as well as ULB's health cluster, which includes the Faculty of Medicine, the School of Public Health and the Faculty of Motor Sciences (the Faculty of Pharmacy is located on the

La Plaine campus). It is also home to the School of Nursing (co-administrated with the Ilya Prigogine institute of higher education), the museum of medicine and the museum of human anatomy and embryology.

ULB-Flagey:

<http://www.ulb.be/campus/flagey/plan-archi.html>

ULB-Flagey is where part of the activities and classes for the Faculty of Architecture (La Cambre-Horta) are held.

ULB-Uccle:

<http://www.ulb.be/campus/uccle/plan-traduction.html>

ULB-Uccle houses the Translation and Interpreting Department (ISTI-Cooremans) of the Faculty of Letters, Translation and Communication.

Charleroi-Gosselies campus:

www.ulb.ac.be/campus/biopole/plan.html

The campus located on the Gosselies aerospace cluster is home to Biopark Charleroi Brussels South, which is home to academic research institutes, technology centres, businesses, research promotion or incubation organisations, and a biomedical training centre. It includes: the Institute of Molecular Biology and Medicine (IBMM), the Institute for Medical Immunology (IMI), the Centre for Microscopy and Molecular Imaging (CMMI), the Plant Biotechnology Laboratory (LBV), several spin-off companies, a business incubator (i-tech incubator) and the Biopark Formation training centre.

Charleroi-City campus:

ULB created this campus in September, 2015, in the heart of the Zénobe-Gramme university centre, with a view to developing its activities in this new location: teaching, research, training, and science outreach.

Access

Pedestrian access

ULB's campuses can be accessed on foot, and pedestrian areas are defined within their perimeter.

In order to find out the best itinerary and have a map of footpaths, you can get a map from ULB's Environment and Mobility Department or on the Bruxelles Mobilité website, featuring a wealth of information for pedestrians and cyclists.

For more information: www.ulb.be/mobilite/transports-pietons.html

Bicycle access

Each ULB campus has bicycle parking facilities (secure parking, covered areas, or simply inverted U racks).

Locations can be found at: www.ulb.be/mobilite/Velo.html#parking-velo

If you need advice on how to get around, what parking facilities are available, where to get refreshments on campus, how to rent a bicycle or use the bicycles sharing service, where to find a repair station, and what bicycle-related events are planning on campus, or if you simply wish to subscribe to ULB's newsletter for cyclists, please visit: www.ulb.be/mobilite/Velo.html

Bicycle sharing

ULB has entered a partnership with Villo, Brussels' bicycle sharing service, which you can use to get around Brussels. All ULB members (students and staff) are entitled to a 50% discount on their Villo subscription!

Several stations are located near the campuses: • Solbosch campus: entrance no. 1 (Héger/Buyl) and entrance no. 11 (Héger/F.D. Roosevelt) • La Plaine campus: entrance no. 2-entrance no. 5 – Delta – Cimetière d'Ixelles • Flagey campus: place Flagey • Erasmus campus: metro station – route de Lennik

For more information: www.ulb.be/mobilite/Velo.html#villo

Access for persons with reduced mobility (PRM)

As a part of its sustainable mobility policy, ULB strives to ensure accessibility and comfort for all users. Two services are also available to students: SIPP (prevention and safety department), and CEFES. For specific information on accessibility for PRM, parking, and the facilities available, please visit www.ulb.ac.be/mobilite/accessibilite-PMR.html

Car sharing

ULB has entered partnerships with several car sharing companies (including Cambio, Zen Car, and Zipcar), in order for members of the university community to enjoy discounts.

<http://www.ulb.ac.be/mobilite/transports-voitures-partagees.html>, www.cambio.be/cms/carsharing/en/, or www.zencar.eu/en

Carpooling

Looking for a ride? ULB has entered a partnership with a ride sharing platform, Commu, which offers a number of advantages for those seeking commuting partners. Registration is free with a ULB e-mail address.

For more information: www.ulb.be/mobilite/transports.html

Access by car or motorbike

As a part of its mobility policy, the University encourages its staff to commute using public transport. However, the University has reserved parking for certain staff members and students. Master's students may apply for a parking permit with the General surveillance service. All ULB campuses also offer parking facilities for motorbikes. For more information on ULB's parking policy and parking spots, please visit www.ulb.be/mobilite/stationnement.html

Student accommodation

In order to create the best environment for its students, ULB offers a wide choice of student accommodation in its own halls of residence and private halls of residence, either on one of its three campuses (Solbosch, La Plaine, Erasme) or off-campus (with over 2,400 rooms or flats).

Prices vary depending on amenities and comfort.

You can choose from many kinds of accommodation: student rooms (known locally as 'kots') in ULB residence halls, private residence halls, or in shared flats or houses; bedsits; flats (furnished or unfurnished); studios; multiple occupancy flats or houses; or intergenerational housing.

You can apply for a room in ULB hall of residence or a private hall of residence; you may apply by filling in the appropriate online form (http://smiley-ee-prd.ulb.ac.be/CITES\_PROD).

The ULB Accommodation Office is the central repository for accommodation offers, and it provides information on the terms and practices of renting. You may use the Accommodation Office's database to find accommodation.

Eating and socialising

Restaurants and shops

Several university restaurants are located on the main ULB campuses, offering varied menus at very affordable prices. In order to receive a student discount, just show your student card at the till. Depending on which campus you are studying at, you may also find sandwich shops and private businesses selling snacks, books, stationary, or photocopies, as well as a bank, a travel agency, an Oxfam shop (on the Solbosch campus), and many shops in the surrounding area.

Emergencies and insurance

Security services (General surveillance and lost and found property)

Thinking about others means thinking about oneself... and vice versa! If anything happens, know how to respond: whether for a medical issue (your own or someone else's), a serious accident, a fire, an assault, a suspicious object or lost property, please contact the General surveillance service. These emergency phone numbers can be called from ULB internal phones or emergency call stations:

7 for the Solbosch, La Plaine and Charleroi campuses

22 for the Erasmus campus

112 for the other campuses.

IT security

ULB is very serious about protecting your personal data. You can do your part by following a few simple rules:

Learn to spot fraudulent e-mails:

If you are urged to click a link or open an attachment, make sure it isn't a phishing e-mail. ULB will never send you a message requesting your ID and/or password. Never share them with anyone;

If a contact sends you a very brief message with an attachment, be careful: it could be a virus. If you have any doubts, do not open the attachment or respond to the message. Contact the sender by telephone to verify their identity;

Remember to check the sender's e-mail address: all official ULB e-mails will be sent from an @ulb.ac.be address, or sometimes @vub.ac.be or @vub.be. This does not guarantee that the e-mail is safe, but it can limit your risk.

Use a strong password, with at least 8 characters of various types: lowercase and uppercase letters, numbers, and special characters;

Never use the same password as on an external website (GMail, Facebook, LinkedIn, etc.), and remember to change your passwords every so often;

Install anti-virus and anti-spyware software on your computer, and set an automatic virus scan.

The insurance department

Regularly enrolled ULB students are insured – subject to the limits and provisions of the insurance contracts taken out by the University: for injuries resulting from any ULB activity; for any civil liability they may incur based on Belgian or foreign law due to damages to third parties caused by error, negligence, omission, recklessness, or other factors for which they are responsible; and for assistance (illness, accident, repatriation) during their travels in any foreign country for the purposes of their academic activities. Insurance coverage for injuries and assistance is offered on top of any legal services provided by the students' health insurance.

B - Getting support throughout your studies

The University is at your service!

The Student Welfare Office

The Student Welfare Office is there to welcome and support you throughout the year. It can help you with individual concerns, or provide assistance for the entire duration of your studies. Its mission is to make studies accessible to all, and offer students specific aid in order to help them succeed.

The Student Welfare Office will listen to you, advise you, inform you and guide you. It can also help you with administrative procedures outside the University (e.g. French Community of Belgium, CPAS, family allowance, etc.) and provide financial support if appropriate. The SWS offers various forms of non-repayable financial aid: grants, contribution towards the purchase of books and course notes, thesis expenses, rent, computer equipment, public transportation, meals, etc., as well as zero-interest student loans (in partnership with the ULB alumni association), to be paid back in the 2 years following the end of your studies.

Tuition fee discounts may also be granted. Applications must be submitted between July 1, and December 31. You must have paid 10% of the tuition fees by October 31, 2017, and the remainder is due by January 4, 2018 (see conditions on the Registration Department's website).

Applications for financial aid may be submitted starting on July 1, 2017.

This means the Student Welfare Office is open to ALL students, without restrictions. Some may qualify – based on their personal and/or family situation – for structural aid (grants) for the entire duration of their studies. Others, who experience temporary issues or find themselves in an unexpected situation – while not being in a position of extreme hardship –, can receive targeted benefits.

Students with specific needs (students with disabilities, illnesses, or learning disabilities, students working as artists or high-level athletes, student entrepreneurs) may also benefit from special support. Do not hesitate to contact the SWS if you have any concerns or to find whether you qualify for any benefits. You may also be directed to other ULB services, as appropriate.

ULB Student Welfare Office

Solbosch campus – Building S, 5th floor – Avenue Buyl, 87A – 1050 Brussels –

If you apply for a room in a hall of residence, the SWS may put you on a priority list if you are in an unexpected and extraordinary situation. The SWS may also arrange for a discount on your rent.

ULBJob is the central hub where job offers are published for students who partially rely on their own income to meet their expenses. Students who must take time off their job during the exam revision period may qualify for an allowance that will compensate for lost revenue.

Students with disabilities (CEFES)

You may wish to enrol in a study programme and have specific needs related to a diagnosed deficiency, a specific learning disability or a debilitating illness, and you believe that this situation may have an impact on your studies. While the university curriculum is the same for all students, you are entitled to reasonable accommodations, specific aid, and support, depending in your needs. You may therefore request the status of Student with Specific Needs (SSN) or Student with a Disability (SWD).

More information at www.cefes.be (Students with disabilities)

ULB Refugee Welcome Desk

The ULB Refugee Welcome Desk offers support to all students through all the steps involved in studying at ULB, both before and after enrolment. The Welcome Desk works in close collaboration with a contact person in each faculty.

www.ulb.be/deskrefugees/index.html

The 'InfOR-études' service

The advisers at InfOR-études can answer any question you might have about studies, student life, ULB services, the University's study programmes, job prospects in each field, etc., at any time, all year long.

Not sure what to study? Want to transfer to a different programme, or need help choosing the right master? Our team of advisers will provide information and guidance throughout your academic career.

Healthcare and well-being

The Medical Centre

The ULB Medical Centre is located on the Solbosch campus and offers consultations, both in general medicine (including blood work) and specialised medicine (dermatology, gynaecology, psychiatry, cardiology, gastroenterology, sport medicine). Nurses and physiotherapists are also present. Medical consultations are fully covered by your health insurance. The Medical Centre is open Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 6.30 p.m. (6 p.m. during holidays).

On the Erasme campus, in addition to consultations with specialists at Hôpital Erasme, the emergency centre for general medical consultations (CMGU Erasme) offers consultations with general practitioners from Monday to Friday, 6 pm to 11 pm (closed on weekends and holidays); no appointment is required, and you can be examined very quickly (typical wait time is less than 30 minutes).

Childcare services

Day nurseries

The University has a day nursery for students on the Solbosch campus, where they can leave their children aged 2 months to 3 years. The Erasmus hospital also has a nursery for children aged 0 to 3. Places are attributed based on availability, according to criteria defined by Belgium's Office of Birth and Childhood.

C - Improve your chance of academic success

Promotion of succes

At ULB, your success is our priority. Not only do academic studies involve an entirely new way to learn, but they also cover more material than secondary school, and require that you become self-disciplined. All these factors, and others, could make your work as a student somewhat more challenging than what you were used to. Each Faculty has developed a number of tools to support you, and you will find – both within the Faculties and at the ULB level – services and people who can help you navigate the various ways in which the University can assist you in your studies:

- an information and guidance service; - key people and Faculty coaches; - remedial courses; - guidance; - the Academic Methodology Centre (CMU); - online assignments to review what you have

- learned in secondary school; - information retrieval training (Sherpa project) and support for your research and projects (EUREKA service) in the ULB libraries (see below); - language tutoring at F9 Languages in Brussels (see below, 'The Language Plan'); - etc.

Do not hesitate to contact your Faculty office or the InfOR-études service to learn more about these opportunities for support.

Online lecture notes

ULB was a pioneer in e-learning in the French Community of Belgium, launching its virtual campus in 1998. Since then, students and professors have had access to a central platform that is both flexible and accessible, both for online learning and to supplement lecture classes.

The 'Landscape' decree requires that universities make available, on their intranet, a number of course materials (including lecture notes). ULB offers these materials as electronic files, on its Virtual University (see page 9). The documents offered in the folder entitled 'Supports de cours disponibles aux PUB' on the VU are also available printed and bound from the university press (www.ulb.ac.be/pub + see below). Grant holders are entitled to a free copy of these materials from the university press. All they need to do is apply for a 'COF' card from the Student Welfare Office.

Access to computer rooms

Students may use the computer rooms in the Solbosch, La Plaine, Erasmus and ULB-Flagey campuses (the computer rooms are managed by the Student Computer Service or PADI). Access to the computer rooms is subject to a general regulation, and some of them have additional rules.

<http://padi.ulb.ac.be>

ULB libraries and Learning Centres

Based on an assessment of its students' learning needs, ULB is currently deploying Library and Learning Centres on its campuses. Designed to go beyond the traditional purpose of libraries and function as true living spaces, the Library and Learning Centres let students not only access document collections, but also use work and study infrastructures that are suited to their practices. They also include support services that can help students throughout their studies at ULB.

- S&SAME: As its name suggests, S&SAME gives you the keys to finding your way around each campus and locating your classrooms, computer rooms and any other useful service. The S&SAME staff is also present in each ULB library, and will help you find a course timetable, connect to the Wi-Fi network, or access your e-mail account, the MonULB portal, or the Virtual University. Finally, S&SAME provides you with helpful resources to find a specific book or article, and lets you borrow documents.

- EUReeKA: EUReeKA helps you with information retrieval, whether you are searching for an article or a book, or compiling a list of available publications while preparing an assignment. Please feel free to go see your library's EUReeKA service if you need assistance and you will be pointed towards tutoring or training on information retrieval, as appropriate. You will also get basic information on how to create a cohesive bibliography, how to avoid plagiarism, and how to download, save and/or print the documents you have found.

- online help and tutorials: a form available on the ULB Archives & Libraries website will allow you to get practical information on how the libraries work, or an introduction on how to search for documents. An introductory online course on information retrieval (DOCUPOLE) and an online tutorial that will help you retrieve information for your master's thesis (in human sciences) are available on the Virtual University (folder entitled 'Formations transversales').

Our support is complemented by in-class training sessions on information retrieval.

In addition to the support resources mentioned above, libraries offer areas and tools specifically designed to provide an ideal setting in which you can study, prepare assignments or simply read the documents you will be using. In particular, you will find: - areas where you can work or study (individually or in groups) in whichever way works best for you; - meeting rooms and classrooms; - PCs that you may use to browse electronic collections go online; - a Wi-Fi network;

- photocopiers and, in certain libraries, a scanner and/or an all-in-one printer/copier/scanner.

During your studies, you will need to look up information on your chosen field and search through the literature in order to prepare your assignments or your master's thesis. Our role is you provide you with the printed or electronic documents that will be helpful to you throughout your studies at ULB. If the book or article you are looking for is not available at ULB, do not hesitate to ask our document research service, in order to find documents whether or not they are in the collection of ULB libraries (this is a paid service).

Library card and payment'access card

Your student card doubles as a library card. You may also purchase an anonymous payment and access card from the libraries, which you can use to access various services (Health Sciences Library, car parks, computer rooms, etc.) and pay for photocopies in the ULB libraries.

Places to study

Finding a quiet place to focus on your studying can be difficult. The University is aware of this issue, and has created open areas on campus where student can study individually in a positive and respectful atmosphere: in addition to the study areas available year-round in the libraries, special study rooms are open during the revision and exam periods. For rooms and timetables, see www.monulb.be and www.ulb.ac.be/dscu/lieux-etude.html.

The Language Plan

The Language Plan is a unique opportunity by which ULB can help its bachelor students learn Dutch and English, which are part of the bachelor programmes. In order for all students to be able to keep up with courses in foreign languages, F9 Languages in Brussels offers free beginner classes, remedial classes, and language development classes, starting at the beginning of the 1st year of the bachelor programme in English, Dutch, and French as a foreign language.

www.ulb.be/enseignements/planlangues/index.html

Conversation groups

The CIDLV (interfaculty centre for language learning) runs conversation groups in English, Italian, Spanish, French, and Dutch, following a simple principle: one day, one language, one hour. Open to all members to the university community, these groups are completely free. No registration is required, you can simply show up at the scheduled time in front of the room (note that a maximum of 12 students can participate). Conversations are hosted by a native speaker, and topics are picked based on the participants' interests. In order to take full advantage of these conversation groups, students should have reached at least the A2 level as defined by the CEFR (Common European Framework of Reference for languages).

Tandem language learning

This learning method consists in mutually developing foreign language skills, by pairing up with a student whose native language you wish to learn. In return, you will your partner learn your own native language. How is this set up? You schedule 15 two-hour sessions with your partner, and produce a few written papers. An assistant will support you and keep track of your progress.

<http://tandems.ulb.ac.be/new/>

French as a foreign language (FFL)

In order to help its international students develop their knowledge of French, ULB offers a wide range of French courses, both before regular classes start and during the academic year.

www.ulb.ac.be/enseignements/cours-francais/

Audio visual equipment rentals

The University's classroom management department has audio visual equipment that members of the university community may borrow and use for academic activities held on ULB campuses, including data projectors, recorders, DVD players, monitors, etc.

www.cte.ulb.ac.be

The archives and the special collections

The ULB archives department collects, processes, and preserves the University's official and administrative documents, as well as many historical collections. The special collections include rare and valuable documents, related in particular to the history of books and printing, as well as archival collections from various donors. The archives and the special collections also preserve a large collection of works of art.

Both are open to all members of the university community.

The Éditions de l'Université de Bruxelles

The Éditions de l'Université de Bruxelles publish hardcover and paperback research books, textbooks, and essays in many areas of human and social sciences as well as in EU law.

The Éditions' books are sold in major book shops.

www.editions-universite-bruxelles.be

The Presses Universitaires de Bruxelles non-profit (book shops and restaurants)

The Presses Universitaires de Bruxelles (PUB) publish course notes ('syllabus') created in close collaboration with ULB teachers themselves, in a more eco-friendly format. The PUB's three shops also carry a selection of books recommended by professors, ULB products, and a number of scientific, medical, legal, social, and architectural books, as well as novels.

The PUB are also currently developing a project for electronic course notes: Syllabus21.

In addition, the PUB offer a high-quality printing services for student projects, theses and dissertations, posters, etc.

Finally, the PUB also run three restaurants: 'L'Architecte' in Flagey, 'Les Presses' in Erasme, and 'La Maison' in La Plaine.

D - ULB, an intense experience

Staying informed

'Act'ULB', 'Radio campus', 'Esprit libre', electronic agenda, social networks

Act'ULB is the information portal on the ULB website. It will offer daily news on the University's activities, with news flashes, podcasts, shared documents and various links. The student newsletter, sent directly to your student e-mail, provides a monthly overview of events on campus, practical information for students, etc. 'Radio Campus' is ULB's radio station, broadcasting on 92.1 FM. It lets students create their own radio programmes, or read the news on the air. 'Esprit Libre', ULB's quarterly magazine (also available online), reflects the University's commitment to research, teaching, and social issues. Finally, with the electronic calendar, you can stay on top of the many activities (lectures, theatre events, exhibitions, conferences) offered throughout the academic year. ULB is also very active on social networks: Facebook, Twitter, Instagram etc.

Getting involved

The Office of Student Representatives (BEA)

The BEA represents ULB students and protects their rights in various decision-making bodies. It provides an interface between students and the academic authorities as well as the French Community of Belgium, through the Federation of Francophone Students (FEF, to which it belongs).

It is also charged with keeping students informed of their rights and supporting them in any appeal process they might launch, for instance when enrolling or applying for social assistance.

In addition, the OSR supports student projects on campus, with regular subsidies.

Student societies and associations

With student initiation ceremonies, conferences, charity projects, film screenings, or other activities, student societies and associations are an essential part of University life. Student traditions are often fun, and never mandatory. More than 80 student societies and associations (gathering students from one or several faculties or according to their political affiliation, their country of origin, or their socio-cultural interests) are currently registered with the University's Board of Governors. You will surely be contacted by one of these societies during your studies: it's up to you whether you join!

Get involved in reducing your environmental footprint

The Environment and Mobility Department

The Environment and Mobility Department (SEM) guides ULB's sustainable development policy across all its campuses.

In terms of environmental protection, ULB has adopted an environmental policy that involves assessing and reducing the impact of ULB activities in 13 key areas. The University was awarded the 'eco-dynamic' label (with two stars) for the Solbosch, La Plaine, and Erasme campuses.

The Student Green Office

The Student Green Office (SGO) is run by students and supported by the ULB authorities through the University's Environment and Mobility department. In concert with the sustainable development policy implemented by the Environment and Mobility department, the Student Green Office strives to promote good environmental practices, raise awareness within the university community and get it to tackle environmental challenges, etc. With a budget allocated by the University, the SGO can carry out its mission efficiently. Our staff of students changes regularly: if you want to get involved in promoting sustainable development at ULB and join our community, join our community, or simply share your ideas or let us know about an issue, please contact us!

Culture and Entertainment

ULB Culture

ULB Culture plans, hosts and supports cultural events on ULB’s main campuses: exhibitions, plays, concerts, films, etc. It also offers various cultural workshops, allowing students to join a choir or an orchestra, or to take part in world music, theatre, film, and musical creation. The association rents out or offers cultural venues (the Delvaux hall and the rehearsal hall), and manages the University’s main exhibition room, the Allende hall.

Through ULB Culture’s cultural partnerships, members of the university community can take advantage of discounts all year long. If you sign up for the ULB Culture newsletter, you may take part in contests with free tickets given out each month!
